WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19, 1874. DEAR ERA: Let me say a word through your columns to some of my friends.

There are being held over the countrynorth, south, east, and west-conventions for the consideration of subjects intimately connected with the interests of our people in the United States; and doubtless, this winter will find such a gathering here at the nation's

Now, dear brethren, who propose to meet in convention, when you do so, let me beg of you to forbear from indulging at times in the expression of little personal animosities; for the sake of the great and good cause in view, rise above self; personal bickerings do no good; they only tend to divert attention from the main subject and belittle those who engage in them.

I mean no reflection upon the convention recently held out of the city, but remember mg with pain and mortification little personal matters that have disgraced those held in this city in times past, I drop a line for the consideration of my friends who may take part in such meetings in the future. Faithfully, your friend,

The Convention and Civil Rights. We clip the following from the Boston

Weekly Journal and are happy to notice so much interest evinced by our Northern friends for the welfare of the colored people:

In the well-considered and effective speech which Mr. Dawes made in accepting the chairmanship of the Republican Convention at Worcester, there were many statements of principle so clearly and tersely put that they might well be taken for Republican motof principle so clearly and tersely put that they might well be taken for Republican mottoes, and emblazoned on the standards of the party. Chief among them we rank his enunciation of the duty of Republicans, and especially of Massachusetts Republicans, with regard to the Civil Rights bill. "Massachusetts," said Mr. Dawes, "has a sacred legacy in the civil rights bill which she cannot barter away, nor entrust to any unfriendly keeping." To this declaration of its presiding officer the Convention a little later gave an emphatic indorsement by passing a resolution condemning the outrages perpetrated by the White Leaguers of the South, and calling for the amplest protection of each individual in his civil rights and privileges as the first duty of national government. There can be no mistaking the position of Massachusetts Republicans on this most important question, and the men who represent us in either branch of Congress will be false to the principles of the party if they fail to give their influence unreservedly to the passage of the Civil Rights bill. That bill is, as Mr. Dawes said, peculiarly the legacy of Massachusetts, it is the seel of the created area between their times and the seel of the created area between their times and the seel of the created area between their times. Dawes said, peculiarly the legacy of Masse chusetts; it is the seal of the work done b chusetts; it is the seal of the work done by this Commonwealth during the long agitation against slavery, and in the trying years of the war; it is the product of the sagacity, the patriotism, the humanity of the distinguished Senator who bore so active and so anselfish a part in that struggle; and it is the ure without whose enactment there that the work accomplished by the

that the work accomplished by the The events now transpiring in the South, in spite of the efforts made to falsify or conceal them, reveal a condition of affairs which recalls the palmiest days of Ku-Kluxism. The same anonymous threats; the same assaults by gangs of masked men; the same whippings, shootings, hangings and house burnings are reported now, daily, as in the days before the National Government laid its strong hands upon the Ku-Klux. The White Leagues are nothing less than the old Ku-Klux Klans revived and rechristened. More moderate and covert in their opera-More moderate and covert in their opera-tions at first, they have grown bolder as they have perfected their organization and equip-ment; and in Alabama, Louisiana, Tennes-see, and other of the Southern States they make no secret of their purpose to drive away white Republicans and intimidate the blacks. We make no reference now to the multitudious reports of outrages which come up from every portion of the South, but which up from every portion of the South, but which take a form so vague that the Democrati-press finds it convenient to wave them away as myths. We refer to such deeds as the massacre of white Republicans at Coushatta the assassination of the colored mail ager in Alabama; the atrocious murder of a young colored school teacher and the slaughter in cold blood of ten or a dozen helpless colored prisoners in Tennessee. These are facts so putent and so well known that the Northern Democratic press cannot deny them, or give them the appearance of "electioneering Democratic press cannot deny them, or give them the appearance of "electioneering tricks." We refer, further, to the tone of the Southern Democratic press, which calls for just such outrages as these, and when they are committed, applands them and shields their perpetrators.

Such a condition of affairs demoustrates, plainly enough, that the Republican party has not yet fulfilled its mission. There is work before it hardly less important than that already done, and unless the new duties are met manfully it is possible that the results already obtained may count for nothing. Such considerations may well suffice to silence all local differences and to unite all the members of the porty in the great work silence all local differences and to unite all the members of the porty in the great work that lies before it. It is said that the party lines are growing wavy; that party principles are indistinct; and that there is a total lack of issues on which to keep up the old party organizations. Here, however, we have an issue, plain, distinct and unmistable; the Republican party of Massachusetts, the Republican party of the United States, demands civil rights for all citizens, black and white, and promises protection and safety to all.

Through the influence of the late Senator Fessenden, of Maine, Senator (now Vice President) Wilson, of Massachusetts, General Garfield, of Ohio, and others, Congress donated the four large brick dwelling houses, and the land on which they stand, situated on the heights above the ferry, to the Trustees of the College. The buildings had been riddled by shot and shell; but, by the aid contributions from the Freedman's Bureau and from generous friends at the North, they were repaired, and another large building erected. VICKSBURG PLAIN DEALER

THE VICKSBURG PLAIN DEALER is intended to meet an urgent necessity of the Republican party in the City of Vicksburg and Warren county—that of a bold, outspoken, unchangable Republican paper. It will boldly defend all that is right, and unhesitatingly denounce all that is wrong. It will never resort to the slang so generally used by the opposition press, neither will it condemn any man unless it has indisputable evidence. It will advocate the equal civil and political rights before the law, but never intrude upon the social prerogatives of any class. In

It will be decidedly Republican; believing that the principles and objects of the Republican par-ty are in accordance with the Declaration of In-dependence and the Constitution of the United tates.

It will also take an active part in all questions not of a decided political nature, but that will redound to the benefit of the entire people of our city, county, State and nation. In matters of PUBLIC EDUCATION

It will send forth no uncertain sound, believing, as it does, that the Common School should be nursed by all the people of our State:—The system of Common Schools, now in its infancy in our State, will do more to bring about the degree of harmony and concord so devoutly wished for hy a majority of our chizage, they are other medium we know of. And when neat and com-fortable School-houses adorn every hill side, valley, and cross-road in our State, with a good, live and competent teacher in each one, whose labors will be shared by all our people, then, and not till then, will our State be marching on the high road to prosperity and civilization. THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or imely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature; and a col-lection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quanticomplete volume cannot duplicate the quanti-ty of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides art department, 1874. The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other desent representations of the productions of great painters. The illustrations of THE ALDINE have great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American arists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and resolved recognitions. artistic success and greatest general interest.

Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attrac-tions any of its predecessors. Premium for 1974.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dolars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Chifs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12 x 16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originats. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testi-monial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1873. Messrs, JAMES SUTTON & Co.

Gentlemen,—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonder-hould be read by all. It gives no un no sound. It seeks to advance true Resonation and sustains the administration is the only paper in Tennessee that addes the complete and impartial extension ivil Rights to the colored citizens by the tement of a national law, and their imital education and developugent; and will greater to promote and imported the interest of the industrial classes of the colored of the South by forming Coloperative sociations, to effectively organize and carrout schemes of interest and profit to each her individually and collectively. It will sustain the living issues of humanity and am improved and higher civilization in efficience in, in opposition to the oppressions of caste, spite and malignant hate of race, which seeks to degrade and ignore the prespectitives not fit the living issues of the United States; and demand in unmistakable terms the rights of the colored citizens which they are entitled to in the colored citizens which they are entitled to in the colored citizens which they are entitled to in the offices, honors and emoluments of the U. S. government, without proscription by their follow white Republicans, or their utter neglect as has been in the past.

PROSPECTUS NEW NATIONAL ERA

LEWIS H. DOUGLASS, EDITOR.

The New National Era will partake of a two fold nature—that of an Advocate and an Educator. As an Advocate it will assert and maintain every right pertaining to the American citi-zen, independent of race, color, or accident of birth. It will demand the recognition of these rights wherever the Constitution extends or the national ensign waves. As an Educator, its columns will be an especial medium for the effective diffusion of right principles and muck-needed instruction, and for the inculcation (1 those habits of industry, economy, and self-reliance which conduce to independent manhood, and give vitality and energy to free government, insuring in return blessings to the governed.

While the editors of the New National Era are colored men, and the contributors will be mainly colored, yet the columns will be open for the discussion of all questions of vital importance to the country by any of its citizens. Communications suitable for publication in these columns, are solicited from our friends in all parts of the country, especially in the Southern

THE POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Upon all questions involving the especial interests of the colored American citizen, the simple rute of equal justice for all men will govern the policy of the New NATIONAL ERA. It wildemand the recognition of no right for one citizen which it will not freely accord to every citizen which it will not freely accord to every other. It will oppose any attempt to conter privileges upon a class, that are withheld from the humblest citizen in the land. It will demand for every citizen equality before the law, and full protection of person and property in every State and Territory of the National Union.

The New National Ena will take high ground upon all public questions, and labor to inspire an openness of purpose and encourage unity of action, especially among the newly-enfranchised people of the reconstructed States. Remembering the past history of the Republican party, and recognizing what it has done for the colored people of the nation, the New National Ena will give its hearty support to that party without reserve. This piedge of fidelity to the Republican party is given under the conviction, and with the assurance, that in the future, as in the past, that party will be the steadfast and inflexible support of those principles of justice and liberty which have now become a part of the organic law of the land.

The industrial interests of the colored people will claim and receive a large share of our at tention.

The New National Era will be made a desirable visitor for the family and the fireside, and we earnestly appeal to our friends every influence.
